INTRODUCTION

Welcome to String Premiere, Performance Works for Young Strings. Spanning grades 1 through 2+, this collection of 30 arrangements and original works is sequenced from simple pieces for young string players up through more complex works for intermediate students.

These early arrangements are uniquely scored, yet musically interesting for players and audience alike. The collection covers a variety of musical styles, from delightful arrangements of time-tested works to more popular musical styles, including folk and rock. The melodic lines are passed through Violin II, Viola, Cello, and Bass parts in addition to Violin I. A Violin III book that parallels the viola part is also available.

Each work in the collection has a short introductory paragraph providing relevant information about the music, the composer, the origin of the work, and/or the style. A few of the arrangements utilize modern percussive techniques, such as knocking on the instruments and foot stomping, for added student interest and rhythmic drive. The authors of String Premiere wish you outstanding success with your concerts and performances!

BIOGRAPHIES

Joanne Erwin, Professor of Music Education at Oberlin Conservatory, earned her Bachelor and Master's degrees in Music Education at the University of Illinois and taught in central Illinois before moving to Texas to play cello in the Fort Worth Symphony. In addition to the symphony work she taught in the Arlington School District and took Suzuki teacher training. She conducted the Junior Youth Orchestra of the Youth Orchestra of Greater Fort Worth and founded a Suzuki School in that organization. After completing a Ph.D. in string pedagogy at the University of North Texas she accepted her current position of Professor of Music Education at Oberlin Conservatory. Dr. Erwin maintains a Suzuki cello studio and conducts the Oberlin Arts and Sciences Orchestra in addition to her Conservatory classes. She has served as president of Ohio Orchestra and String Teachers Association, on the board of American Symphony Orchestra League's Youth Orchestra division, and on the board of the Cleveland Cello Society. Publications include the text Prelude to Music Education, method book New Directions for Strings, companion text A Scale in Time and various articles in American String Teacher, Suzuki Journal and Teaching Music. She has conducted festival orchestras in several states and in London, Singapore, Panama City and is a regular presenter at state and national conferences.

Robert D. McCashin, Director of Orchestras and Professor of Conducting, joined the faculty in the JMU School of Music in the fall of 1992. He was awarded the Distinguished Teacher Award for the College of Visual and Performing Arts, for the 2014-2015 academic year. For more than 23 years, he's been the Music Director for the JMU Symphony, Chamber Orchestra and Opera Orchestras. He continues with the Symphony and Chamber Orchestras, and teaches all relevant courses in the Graduate MM and DMA orchestral conducting program. Dr. McCashin is a successful writer and arranger of educational publications, having now published more than 70 works for the educational music Grade I through V levels. His original works and arrangements are published through Wingert-Jones, FJH Music and Tempo Press. Other publications include New Directions for Strings, a two-volume classroom string method, and A Scale in Time, a scale and warm-up book for all-level string players. In addition, Dr. McCashin regularly guest conducts in a variety of settings, including Regional and All-State Orchestras across the US as well as Regional professional orchestras. He has been invited to present more than 30 conducting workshops and seminars for national level and state level teacher conferences throughout the U.S. Dr. McCashin is Founder, Past President and former National Board member for the College Orchestra Directors Association.

Kathleen A. Horvath, Associate Professor of String Education and Pedagogy at Case Western Reserve University and Instructor of Double Bass at the Cleveland Institute of Music. She holds a Bachelor of Music from the Eastman School of Music (Double Bass), a Master of Arts in Performance and String Pedagogy, and Doctor of Philosophy in Music Education from The Ohio State University. In demand as a clinician and adjudicator, she has presented at many National, State, and International conferences. As a conductor Dr. Horvath has conducted festivals in Illinois, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Arkansas, Alaska, Ohio, Georgia, Virginia, and Montana. Her research is primarily focused on the prevention of performance related injuries through correct positioning of the body and the accompanying teaching methodology that facilitates accurate development. Her journal publications include articles and reviews in Music Educators Journal, Triad, Scroll, Bass World, American String Teacher, Council of Research in Music Education, and the Southeastern Journal of Music Education. She has served as Double Bass editor and contributor to the String Syllabus for the last three editions. Her book contributions include sections in volumes 1, 2 and 3 of Teaching Music Through Performance in Orchestra and a chapter in the Applications of Research to String Education. She also has co-authored a two-volume string class method book entitled New Directions for Strings and a companion text, A Scale in Time published by FJH Music.

Brenda Mitchell is Associate Professor of Music at Miami University, where she has been a faculty member since 1990. She teaches music education courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels, and is the Director of Graduate Studies for the Department of Music. Her public school teaching experience included eleven years in Arizona in the Mesa Public Schools and Tempe Elementary Schools. Conducting experience includes The Phoenix Symphonette (youth orchestra for the Phoenix Symphony), Arizona Elementary All-State Orchestra, Arizona Regional Junior High School Orchestra, and other guest conducting in Ohio. Her research interests center on string pedagogy for young students. Publications include Lessons in Performance for Beginning and Developing Strings, New Directions for Strings Book 1 and 2, and A Scale in Time, all with The FJH Music Company, Inc. In 2005 Dr. Mitchell received the Crossan Hays Curry Award for Outstanding Teaching from the School of Fine Arts at Miami University.

1. Czech Folk Song

Traditional
arranged by Joanne Erwin

This song is from the region of Bohemia in the Czech Republic. Much Czech folk music is strongly related to dance forms; this tune, translated as "Annie Went to the Cabbage" or "To the Garden Annie Went," has strong elements of the polka, and is a song for young children.

14. The British Grenadiers

Traditional
arranged by Brenda Mitchell

"Grenadiers" originally carried grenades, but eventually the "grenadiers" were chosen for their size and physical strength. This tune is played for British and Canadian military forces each June at the Trooping the Colour ceremony celebrating the British sovereign's birthday.

The musical score for 'The British Grenadiers' is written in bass clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a 4/4 time signature. It begins with a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic. The melody features a mix of quarter and eighth notes, with some measures containing rests. Measure numbers 7, 11, 15, and 13 are indicated in boxes. A 'V' symbol appears above measures 11 and 15. The score ends with a double bar line.

15. Trepak

Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky
arranged by Robert D. McCashin

Tchaikovsky (1840-1893) based the "Trepak" in his ballet The Nutcracker on the traditional Ukrainian dance. The quick tempo and lively rhythms reflect the lively nature of this dance, traditionally performed by men.

Modest Mussorgsky
arranged by Robert D. McCashin

Russian composer Modest Mussorgsky (1839-1881) composed "The Great Gate of Kiev" for piano in 1874. It is part of a multi-movement work, Pictures at an Exhibition, written in memory of Mussorgsky's friend Viktor Harmann. The ten movements are musical depictions of ten watercolors by Hartmann. The piano version of Pictures at an Exhibition was orchestrated by several people, including the most-often-performed version by Maurice Ravel.

Jean-Joseph Mouret
arranged by Robert D. McCashin

Jean-Joseph Mouret (1682-1738) was a French composer. This "Rondeau" is one of his most enduring compositions, from the first Suite de symphonies. "Rondeau" is the French word for "rondo," a musical form that alternates a principal theme with one or more contrasting sections. The "Rondeau" is a frequently heard wedding processional. It was also the theme for the PBS Masterpiece Theatre series.
